POLICY TITLE: COPYRIGHT

SECTION B: GUIDELINES

1. INTRODUCTION

The fair dealing provision in the Canadian Copyright Act permits use of a copyright-protected work without permission from the copyright owner or the payment of copyright royalties. To qualify for fair dealing, two tests must be passed.

One test is that the work must be used for one of the purposes listed in the Copyright Act i.e.: research, private study, criticism, review, news reporting, education, satire and parody. Educational use of a copyright-protected work passes the first test.

The second test is that the work must be used for one of the purposes listed in the Copyright Act i.e.: research, private study, criticism, review, news reporting, education, satire and parody. In 2004 and in 2012, the Supreme Court of Canada provided guidance as to what this test means in schools. This provision permits use of a copyright-protected work without permission from the copyright owner or the payment of copyright royalties provided that the purpose is intended for research, private study, criticism, review, news reporting, education, satire, and parody.

These guidelines apply to fair dealing in non-profit K-12 schools and provide reasonable safeguards for the owners of copyright-protected works in accordance with the Copyright Act and the Supreme Court decisions.
